Directions: Underline all adjectives in the following passage.

I have always wondered about the beautiful ocean. There are several layers of the ocean, and different types of marine animals live in the zones. Deep sea creatures live in the lower zones. They are well-known for their weird, strange, but interesting looks. They have adapted to the harsh conditions with little sunlight and food. Around eighty percent of the ocean has never been explored by humans. Most of the area remains a mystery to us, but one thing is for sure. We need to protect our wonderful oceans and the good creatures that live in it.
