

Helping Verbs

Helping verbs "help" the main verb, or the action verb. They come before the main verb

Directions: Underline the helping verb in each sentence. Circle the main verb it "helps".

1. We were discussing the causes of climate change in class today.
2. The Nobel Prize winner is developing a new strategy for light therapy.
3. To everyone's surprise, she had executed complex maneuvers during the gymnastics competition.
4. The athletes have intensified their training regimen in preparation for the championship.
5. The soldiers had endured grueling conditions during the long siege.
6. We are examining the socioeconomic factors that led to the Great Depression.

Directions: Complete the blank space with a helping verb that appropriately fits the sentence. Answers may vary.

7. Scientists are monitoring the effects of climate change on coral reefs.
8. The park rangers have been tracking the migration patterns of endangered birds.
9. The volunteers have planted more trees before the rainy season.
10. Researchers have underestimated the impact of pollution on local wildlife
11. We will implement new conservation strategies next year.

Helping Verbs

Helping verbs "help" the main verb, or the action verb. They come before the main verb

12. She was composing poetry inspired by her travels around the world.

13. The activists were organizing protests to demand social justice.

14. They have solved the escape room challenge before dinner.

15. The kids are pretending to be pirates searching for buried treasure.

16. He is programming the robot to dance to pop music.

17. The knights had battled fierce dragons before the sun rose.

Directions: Create original and fun sentences using the helping verbs given below.

18. Am:

Answers may vary.

19. Had:

20. Could:

21. Must:
