This past week, I arriveed at Camp Pinewood, and it was an unforgettable experience! On the first day, I triped over my own shoelaces and landed face-first into a pile of mud. What an introduction! Thankfully, my bunkmate helpped me up. Yesterday, the teacher's alarm clock blare Taylor Swift songs. Today, we participates in various activities like canoeing, but I just paddles in circles. I will planned to conquer the climbing wall without getting stuck halfway like Lily. Tomorrow, I will attempted archery if I'm lucky. I laugh every day and cherishes these valuable moments with my new friends. Camp life teaches me that laughter go a long way!
