

Relative Pronouns

Relative pronouns join a relative clause (dependent clause) and connect it with an independent clause. They give more information about the noun or pronoun.

Directions: Underline the words in the independent clause and double underline the words in the relative clause. The first one is done for you.

1. The old man who lives in the oldest house in the neighborhood is grumpy.
2. The headphones that you lent me is falling apart.
3. Dan whose car was stolen reported the crime the day after.
4. The student whom the teacher favored excelled in her grades.
5. The book that won several awards was displayed at the front of the store.
6. The neighbor who called earlier came by the house with freshly baked cookies.
7. The package that arrived this morning came all the way from Japan.
8. Did you see the new teacher who teaches third grade?
9. This is the building whose roof was damaged in the storm.
10. Who is the person who cried at the party?
11. The woman whose son works at the hospital volunteered there on the weekends.
12. The scientist who discovered a cure received a Nobel Prize.
13. The restaurant that we visited last week closed due to a cockroach infestation.
14. Do you remember the day when we started dating?
15. Who was the teacher that helped you solve this problem?
16. The city where I was born has changed a lot since I left across the country.
17. The lawyer whom they hired has a strong record of wins.

Relative Pronouns

Relative pronouns join a relative clause (dependent clause) and connect it with an independent clause. They give more information about the noun or pronoun.

Directions: Underline the words in the independent clause and double underline the words in the relative clause. The first one is done for you.

1. The old man who lives in the oldest house in the neighborhood is grumpy.
2. The headphones that you lent me is falling apart.
3. Dan whose car was stolen reported the crime the day after.
4. The student whom the teacher favored excelled in her grades.
5. The book that won several awards was displayed at the front of the store.
6. The neighbor who called earlier came by the house with freshly baked cookies.
7. The package that arrived this morning came all the way from Japan.
8. Did you see the new teacher who teaches third grade?
9. This is the building whose roof was damaged in the storm.
10. Who is the person that cried at the party?
11. The woman whose son works at the hospital volunteered there on the weekends.
12. The scientist who discovered a cure received a Nobel Prize.
13. The restaurant that we visited last week closed due to a cockroach infestation.
14. Do you remember the day when we started dating?
15. Who was the teacher that helped you solve this problem?
16. The city where I was born has changed a lot since I left across the country.
17. The lawyer whom they hired has a strong record of wins.

